

Clark Denounced by a Unanimous Vote.

A large mass meeting of colored voters was held in Laing's hall last night. Every seat was filled and many of the audience remained standing through a meeting which did not adjourn till after eleven o'clock.

The meeting originated by Rev. Dennis Jones, President and Wm. F. Smith, Secretary. Speeches were made by Wm. D. Matthews, John H. Morris, Isaac Hayden and Rev. Mr. Wier. All were excellent. The meeting was harmonious and enthusiastic from beginning to end, thus setting an excellent example to other classes of citizens.

The latest of the hour presents as making any further report of the meeting. The following resolution was offered by Capt. Matthews:

Resolved, That the course of Sidney Clark in the State Convention four years ago, in opposing the right of suffrage for colored men, deprived us of our privileges for three years and proved that he was a tricky and cunning politician, and not a true Republican friend of equal rights; and that we favor the nomination of a man for governor who has always been our friend, who is sincere in his political principles, and who is free from corruption, dishonesty and fraud; and that we are in favor of a Leavenworth vote.

The vote was taken by rising, and every man in the hall stood up.

This is a glorious beginning of the campaign in Leavenworth.

When the speeches a handsome contribution was taken up for the family of the late Wm. L. Smith.

Mr. Morris announced that another mass meeting would be held in Laing's hall on Thursday night.

Terrible Accident.—Mr. Joseph Lee, who is employed as a farm hand by Mr. D. N. Barnes, in this county, was attacked by a bull on Monday evening, and badly hurt.

He was in the act of putting a feeding trough through a fence when the animal, preparatory to moving him into another place, when the bull suddenly lunged and tossed him into the air. After he struck the ground the enraged brute again rushed upon him, and inflicted terrible injuries, lacerating him in a fearful manner with his horns.

The unfortunate man finally got away from his assailant, after being thrown around for some time, and found a hiding place in some friendly bushes. A boy, who the animal, and men arriving from adjoining field, carried the sufferer to the house, where he is receiving every possible attention. Dr. Carpenter is attending him, and pronounces his injuries very severe, though not necessarily fatal. The bull has been very decidedly heretofore. Mr. Lee having managed him without any difficulty whatever.

We received, last evening, an enthusiastic letter from a Denver subscriber to THE DAILY TIMES, in which he expresses much delight in the prospect of getting his paper within a short time after publication. The circulation of THE DAILY TIMES is large in Colorado, will increase more rapidly than ever. We shall endeavor, as heretofore, to attract subscribers by publishing the latest and most important news in advance of all competitors.

The project seems fair for the success of the project to open another avenue between the city and the Fort, which will be lighted with gas. In winter, when our neighbors at the Fort will have occasion to visit entertainments in the city nearly every evening, it will be very pleasant for them to ride home between two rows of street lamps.

The Largest Vineyard in Kansas.

After a thorough trial for the past ten years, in all the different soils here, the people in this vicinity have concluded that they live in a grape growing country. In nearly every lot in Wathena can be seen evidence of that belief, in the shape of carefully tended grape vines. Several of the farmers of this Township have very respectable vineyards; but the only man in this section who makes the raising of grapes a specialty is Mr. Constant Porrier. He was born and raised in France, and has been in the vineyard business since he was a boy. He has a vineyard of about 100 acres, and is the largest grower of grapes in this section. He has a fine collection of grape vines, and is a specialist in the raising of grapes. He has a fine collection of grape vines, and is a specialist in the raising of grapes. He has a fine collection of grape vines, and is a specialist in the raising of grapes.

Mr. Porrier is the pioneer vintner of this section, having planted the first grape vine in a Northwest Missouri. In 1858 he moved to Kansas, and pre-empted the land now owned. The next spring he put out some Catawba and Isabella, in ground that was unimproved and swampy. The vines in that put out then are now full of grapes, and the promise of many years of fruitfulness. From that beginning he has now made of himself the largest vineyard in Kansas, and embracing over twenty different varieties, among which are the two above named and the Concord, which Mr. P. has made a specialty of. He has a fine collection of grape vines, and is a specialist in the raising of grapes.

Mr. Porrier has now twenty acres of grapes on his premises, about half of which are in bearing order. He expects to pick about forty tons. At present he is selling them in Wathena, and St. Joseph, and shipping to Atchison and Leavenworth, in this State, and Omaha, Nebraska. About nine-tenths of all the grapes picked are made into wine, and he thinks it better to raise for that purpose than to sell them at ten cents a pound. This year the crop is unusually large, and free from rot.

This season, for the first time, birds little larger than sparrows have visited the vineyards in this vicinity, and have already done considerable damage by eating the ripening grape vines. The birds are of a dull reddish color, with a black head, and a black bill, about three-fourths of an inch in length, which they insert in the grape. Such grapes struck by the bird, and in a day or two become worthless.
